E. J. Levengood left this week, overland, for Skull Valley. He anticipates a fine trip as the weather is delightful of late. Mr. Levengood expects to join Mr. Sharpneck at this point and will work his teams at the latter's claims this winter. A good water supply is to be had at that place and a stamp mill propelled by a water-wheel has been installed.

All-day's sport at G. W. Martin's turkey shoot on Christmas day. If you have no gun, we will furnish you one.

John Page and Henry P. Barbour, of the Canyon Copper company, were in town Wednesday and left on No. 7 for Prescott. Mr. Barbour says that their mine is in a prosperous condition and that it grows decidedly richer with depth. The ore is of a high grade at present and is rich enough to meet the present slump in the copper market without loss to the company. This speaks well for the canyon mining region.

Phelan's for fruits.

House for rent, cheap. See F. R. Nellis.

W. L. Harris returned to the city last Saturday night after an absence of several weeks on a visit to his old home at Cincinnati. Bill says things don't look like they used to back there and that he is glad to get back to a country where the "penny" is unknown.

A coming attraction at the Silvernail opera house is Herbert Bashford, poet and author in original readings, assisted by Winifred June Morgan, violin soloist, Kinnie Cole, character impersonator and Alice Ethelbert, pianist. The date by this company will be a rare opportunity for those in Williams who appreciate a performance of this kind, and will be greatly enjoyed by all. Each member of the company is an artist in his or her particular line. Remember the date, Jan. 6, 1902.

Phelan's for fresh vegetables.

On the same day the Saginaw & Manistee Lumber company paid $5,200 to the treasurer. In all $30,000 has been paid into the county treasury for taxes for 1901.—Sun.

G. W. Martin for Christmas turkeys, ducks, chickens and geese—both dead and alive.

As announced in the last issue of the News our worthy school teachers left for Flagstaff last Saturday morning on their wheels. When they were several miles from town Prof. Hinton's wheel sprung a leak and after a lengthy search, and a longer walk, they arrived at a good well of water. After quenching the burning thirst Prof. hit upon the scheme of filling his leaky tire with the sparkling water, and thereafter the trip was made without mishap. The gents arrived in Flagstaff about 1 p. m., but the most direct questions could not elicit an answer as to the time they started on their return. It is needless to say, however, from the general tone of their voices, that they will not soon undertake the same trip. Mr. Hinton says he thinks the scheme of carrying water in the tires is a good one as the roads in this section lead a long way and are dry.
